ABOUT

Garrett Bell is an associate practicing in the firm's real estate and oil and gas practice groups. Garrett focuses his practice on transactional matters relating to commercial real estate, business, and the representation of land and mineral owners in energy transactions. He represents individuals and businesses in all aspects of real estate acquisition and disposition, development, and leasing.

Prior to joining Graves Dougherty, Garrett served as a summer clerk in the Office of the Solicitor General for the State of Tennessee and participated in the Department of Justice's Summer Law Intern Program as a clerk within the Office of General Counsel for the Federal Bureau of Prisons. While in law school, Garrett interned within the Special Victims Unit of the St. Louis Circuit Attorney's Office, as well as the Civil Division of the United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Illinois.
